Dear Parents and Community,

May was a busy month at SIS@Ciputra with International Day celebrations as a culminating celebration. It was wonderful to see so many parents involved in this event. As we encourage our students to be global citizens, events such as this provide the perfect lessons and experiences for us all, for our future.

During May you noticed an increase in homework and revision lessons. Teachers have been working hard to make sure all subject matter was covered for the upcoming SA 2 exams. During this time please make sure your child receives enough sleep and eats a well-balanced breakfast before coming to school.

During the last week of June, you will be able to meet with your child's teacher to go over the results and receive the report card. Classroom teachers will be sending you reminders to log onto McOnline to schedule your parent/teacher conferences.

I hope you enjoy reading this addition of the Singapore International School Ciputra newsletter. You will find information on curriculum, afterschool clubs, and international day as well as the recent excursions our students took to Gamuda Super School.

Thank you for your support and loyalty to your child's school. As I have said before when parents are actively involved in their child's education and learning, there is a higher chance that child will score higher academically, and enjoy school much more.

Truly,

Mr. Mustafa Fazal, Deputy Principal

Dear Parents and Community,

During this year teachers and students of the Integrated Program tried their best to study and work hard to obtain remarkable results through the examination and evaluation of the Department of Education and Training of Tay Ho district. In addition to completing the prescribed curriculum, teachers were also very active in organizing field trips for students such as visiting Bat Trang ceramics for Year 3 and Era House and for Year 1. These activities have given the children an opportunity to experience more about nature and traditional craft to carve their knowledge of traditional Vietnamese values and ethics.

Integrated students have had to put in a lot of effort to be able to complete both their international and integrated programmes. The results they have achieved are a reflection of the effort that they have put into their studies this year. For the teachers, besides enthusiasm to work hard they have always tried to improve the quality of teaching for students to achieve the best outcomes for students.

Our students were also able to enjoy an array of extracurricular activities that focus on Eastern Values. Some of these activities and events were the Mid-Autumn Festival, Traditional Vietnamese New Year, Teachers Day and International Children's Day just to name a few. These events have helped making Vietnamese teachers and students more proud of their national culture.

I would like to thank you all the teachers, parents and lovely students from integrated program, who have been contributing to the success of the school year 2016 – 2017.

Truly,

Vu Thi Bich Lien
